As the insurance industry becomes increasingly competitive, insurers are seeking new ways to innovate, accelerate product launches, and simplify maintenance and product updates. That requires modern technology. Socotra empowers insurers with maximum agility and the ability to adapt to changing market conditions easily and rapidly.

Power all your products with the most trusted core platform for innovative carriers and insurtechs.

Using modern technology is no longer an option—it's a requirement. Socotra delivers the first agile cloud-native core platform with open APIs, empowering both global insurers and insurtech startups to rapidly develop and distribute innovative products with minimal effort and cost. Built for reliability and flexibility, Socotra delivers robust functionality for the end-to-end policy lifecycle, including underwriting and rating, policy administration, billing, claims, reporting and features immediate access to leading industry apps to extend and enhance your ecosystem.
